One morning recently, I wen into Whitman Drug and asked Miss Frances Conner and Rev. M. L. Seay if they had heard what happened to the huge Great Dane dog which everyou. around town is well acquainted with. When they said no, I told them that over at Riverside an automobile mechanic was working on a car. He had a large flat pan with gasoline in ... The dog came along and lapped up a quantity of the gas. The gas had such a painful effect on the dog that he ran around the building several times, then fell over and collapsed. Before Rev. Seay had a chance to make a reply, Miss Conner asked me if the 'og died. I told her, "No, he jus ran out of gas." CLEO LOWERS SIGHTS

Cleo Hawkins, one of the operators of the Pea River power plant below Elba became very chesty when he caught two 1-2 pound catfish below the powerhouse a few weeks ago and said he was throwing back all fish weighing less than Mr. Hawkins told me Monday that he has been throwing back too many wish under the 7pound requirement, so he has lowered his minimum limit to three-quarters of a pound. He thinks this way he will have more fish for the table.
